HANDLING PROCEDURES FOR PANTEC BAKING FORMS

Preparation and Cleaning

- Please wash silicone form before using for the first time as you would with any new pans. A pre-wash also intensifies the non-stick capabilities of the Pan Liner.
- Never attempt to clean forms using abrasive detergents, scrapers or brushes of any kind. When cleaning becomes necessary, using warm water and a soft cloth or sponge, wipe the form clean. Mild dish soap may be used if necessary.

Handling

- Forms must always be used on a supporting sheet pan or screen.
- Flat pan molds should be placed with the smoother surface up so that the Pantec logo can be read.
- As most detergents contain mild concentrates of acids or alkali's, we recommend that forms be rinsed off with water if a detergent is used for cleaning or, for hygienic reasons.

Precautions

- Silicone forms should not be cut or folded.
- Silicone forms may be used in all types of ovens, but subjecting the forms to direct flame will cause a breakdown and render them unusable. Maximum baking temperature is 515 degrees Fahrenheit or 268 degrees Celsius.
- Strong concentrations of acids or alkali's will damage the forms and therefore shorten the life of the form.
- Nothing heavy should be placed on top of the forms, causing them to be crushed. This could damage the silicone and render the forms unusable.
- Knives or sharp objects will damage the forms. Remove items from the form before slicing or cutting.
- Oils or release sprays are not required and may reduce the release properties of these silicone baking forms.
